An entry made in the Register of Titles pursuant of a Transfer Application or Report on transaction, has effect for transfer of Title or recording of transaction from the time of making or filing of the application before the Title Registration Officer.

49. Liability for void transfers:

If any title or right or interest in immovable property is not registered due to non compliance of certain provisions of this Act, then the person in whose name such title or right or interest in immovable property was proposed to be registered will be compensated by the owner of the property with regard to costs incurred by such person for the purposes of registration.

50. Effect of non-compliance of requirement:

(1) No transaction or act relating to immovable property required to be registered or recorded under this Act or reported to the Authority under this Act shall be effective and received as evidence of a transaction relating to such property, unless it has been registered or recorded upon receipt of information by the Authority under the provisions of this Act.

Provided that an unregistered document affecting immovable property and required by this Act or the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, to be registered may be received as evidence of a contract in a suit for specific performance under Chapter II of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, or as evidence of any collateral transaction not required to be effected by registered instrument.

- (2) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other enactment in force, if the requirement of registration under this Act is not complied with, the transfer, grant or creation of title or right or interest becomes void.
- (3) On the application of sub-section 2 in case of transfers for valuable or other consideration, by the way of gift or in pursuance of an order of any court, the title to the immovable property reverts to the transferor who holds it on a bare trust for the transferee.
- (4) On the application of sub-section 2 in cases of leases or grants, charges or mortgages, the lease or grant or creation of charge or mortgage has effect as a contract made for valuable consideration to lease or grant or create such legal interest concerned.
